Is Easy

All Dressed Up

Starting the day the right way is easy with these clothing, jewelry and bathroom organizers - and a mirror worth a second glance.

Idea We Love

A. Foster Wooden Cases
by Sakaya Yamamoto and Boaz Cohen for BCXSY

For the fourth part of their Origins series, the duo collaborated with Ibuki, a craft guild in Japan, to create these lacquered Kyoto cedar treasure boxes. The mechanics of the joints of the asymmetric boxes are cleverly concealed. bcxsy.com

B. Les Ailes Noires Rail
by +Tongtong

Graphic black welded steel frames created by Toronto-based designer John Tong look two-dimensional from straight on, but at an angle reveal depths that hide clothes rails and shelves. tongtong.co

C. Lavanity
by THINKK Studio

The dressing table and bathroom vanity come together in one multipurpose teak, steel and leather furniture set from Thai design studio THINKK. thinkk-studio.com tsrjd.com

D. Chest of Suitcases
by Maarten Ceulaer for Nilufar

Looking like the most desirable luggage set imaginable, the Belgian designer's asymmetric chest of drawers, shown at Nina Yashar's legendary gallery, is rendered in luxurious leathers in complementary tones. nilufar.com

Mirage
by Tokujin Yoshioka for Lema

Some days you want to take a good look in the mirror, and other days you can hardly bear more than a fleeting glance. An innovative coupling system designed by Japanese wunderkind Tokujin Yoshioka means the long, slim panels of this mirror can be aligned or offset to create different forms and impressions - making it both a practical product and a work of art at the same time.
